The Fourth of July passed quietly in the Lake Okechobee region. On Wednesday night crowds were entertained at the dance held in the Legion pavilion and many watched the opening of the new skating rink in Pahokee. Others attended the amateur basketball game at the Belle Glade tracks. Yesterday the streets of Glades town were nearly deserted as citizens sought out points of interest in other towns where celebrations were being held. A check-up shows the Glades towns free from the usual run of accidents which usually occur on observance of the Fourth.

Leon Ragdale, proprietor of Pahokee's new skating rink, invited me to try a pair of his new skates. However, he didn't say a word about furnishing me with one. Back yesterday I got up to go to the rink and found that I had left my skates at home. I said what might happen when I get an Austin on each foot. Anyway, there were too many nice people on the floor last night for me to take advantage of Leon's offer. I was quiet, meaning I was down there and no customers to be bumped into.

I have just finished reading an article in my favorite daily which says that the state of Georgia is preparing to launch a new anti-Roosevelt administration. The article says that some country weekly launching a campaign of defamation against the New York Times. The article says that the country lawyer from McKee said into office waving a three dollar auto tag seems to have got to his head. The way I figure the whole thing out is that McKee is a protégé of Huey Long because he is the Georgia governor could hold out for a few more hours on the floor of the Senate even if he happened to be sick enough to beat Senator Lick Russell for that job in 1933.

For years I have enjoyed writing little things about people and you don't know how good it makes a fellow feel when you can say nice things and not have to stretch the truth a little. For instance, right now I feel like writing something nice about the crowd of fellows who play baseball as representatives of the S. E. Engineers office in Clewiston. They came to Pahokee last Sunday and played the recently installed Pahokee nine. What's more they won by a score of three to one. It was as clean a base ball game as I have ever witnessed and there wasn't a squawk during the whole afternoon. Pop Walker was there tossing them over for his Engineer team mates and Sam Smith did the chucking for Pahokee. The diamond those two chaps are buddies but during the time they are pitching against each other nothing gives either of them more pleasure than to see the other play the air. The Engineers and the Pahokee squad furnished clean sport for the onlookers and it is hoped that more games can be arranged between the two teams before the summer is over.

Fort Myers News-Press: Next time you feel like a million dollars, kick up your heels and laugh at the noted chemist who has just figured out that the genus homo is worth exactly $1.98 a head. If you when some one makes you feel like two cents, get what satisfaction you can out of the fact that in a chemical laboratory, at least, your component parts are worth considerably more than you are.

Of course, many men are worth millions of dollars, and their accounts and material possessions are concerned and the per capita share of wealth in the United States is $1,981. That figure includes an equal division of real estate, livestock, railroads, automobiles, minerals and currency. If only the actual money in circulation were divided among the men, woman and child, each would get approximately $1.98.

But when man is reduced to a test tube analysis, the chemist knocks him down for $1.98—less that it takes to fill the tank of your last year's automobile with top paid gasoline. Here's what a chemist could get out of a very poor man after running him through the laboratory: enough water to fill a 10-gallon bucket, enough fat for seven bars of laundry soap, enough water for 7,000 pencils, enough water for 3,500 matches, ten one-cent pennies and one nickel, enough to wash a chicken coop, 16 feet square of

Chain Store Tax

TALLAHASSEE, July 3.—

(FNS)—Florida's chain store tax passed by the recent legislature to provide $4,500,000 from graduated occupational license and gross receipts, was declared unconstitutional by Circuit Judge J. B. Johnson last week.

In a verbal statement, Judge Johnson termed the entire bill to be arbitrary and the tax so high that he did not think any court could reasonably sustain it. Nearly 100 score of Florida's chain stores participated in the court proceedings.

Judge Johnson granted injunctions to the chain stores preventing Comptroller Leon from enforcing the taxes against them until validity of the law is finally determined by the supreme court.

The attorney general's office representing Comptroller Leon, opposing the injunction action stated that it would appeal to the supreme court. Senator Tillman, Tampa, who sponsored the bill, pledged his efforts in its behalf. The revenue from this tax was to be used to pay the state's debt as well as other revenue producing measures have been declared unconstitutional. School taxes are predicting that public schools, the University of Florida and the Florida State College for Women will be forced to operate on a short term basis since it is evident that the amount of money for school purposes will fall far short of actual needs.

CLARK GABLE AND CONSTANCE BENNETT IN COMEDY-DRAMA

Gable Seen as Newspaper Editor and Miss Bennett as "Cub" Reporter

Clark Gable and Constance Bennett are costarred for the first time in "After Office Hours," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production which plays at the Everglades Theatre, Belle Glade, Sunday and Monday.

Both ranking stars and both equally adept at dramatic and light comedy characterization, the team's initial appearance is being launched with great enthusiasm.

Fans will remember that Gable scored one of his earliest triumphs in the Bennett picture, "The Easiest Way." They appear together for the first time since then in the new film. Gable having risen to the top of the screen as a romantic totem, and Bennett as a girl who is led a dizzying pace by his chief's swift maneuverings.

In a busy comedy-drama of New York society, the press and a murder, Gable is cast as Branch, a newspaper editor, and Bennett as a cub reporter.

murder is committed, the story deals with the attempt of the newspaper editor to uphold the law in the face of a scandalous situation. He is aided by his cub reporter, who is a girl who is led a dizzying pace by his chief's swift maneuverings.

In the important role of Branch, Harvey Stein, rising young "discovery," continues the good work he began with William Powell and Myrna Loy in "Evelyn Prentice."

As Mrs. Nanette, Sharon's mother, Billie Burke is given ample opportunity to play the kind of jittery, absent-minded society matron characterization in which she excels.

What Stein brings all his talent at open-mouthed comedy to play on the voice of Parr, gum-chewing photographer for Branch, who is led a dizzying pace by his chief's swift maneuverings.

Communications

Belle Glade, Fla., June 18, 1935.
Mr. H. W. Birtley,
Sec'y, State Road Dept.,
Tallahassee, Fla.

My Dear Sir:

I have just received an anxious inquiry from Orlando, Fla., asking information on State Road No. 26. He says "he is very much interested in seeing the work start from South Bay," and he desires to "know if this has been called for on this work, and how far south they are to run."

Of course, I cannot answer him, but perhaps you can help us both. You will recall that "advertisements requesting bids" were to go out about May 30th.

Further, my other inquiry as to delay, in the event of our delay, we shall not forfeit all funds we may not have used by the end of the fiscal year? This, to me, is much the most serious phase of the case and a definite reply by our constituents. Waiting, after it is a point greatly desired by our constituents.

Years of struggle is hard; but to LOSE THE MONEY—How can we characterize this calamity?

Very truly yours,
THOS. E. WILL.

State Road Department of Florida,
Tallahassee, June 26, 1935.
Dr. Thos. E. Will,
Belle Glade, Fla.

In reply to your letter of June 18th, I am sorry that sometime ago I advised you that we intended to request bids on a portion of the road along about May 30th.

These advertisements did not go out on the time mentioned, but we thought that the Federal Engineers thought best to change the type of road contemplated.

In the interest of attempting to have the available funds go further than contemplated under the original plan.

I am glad to advise you that the plan has been satisfactorily taken care of and we have requested the Bureau of Public Roads for the money to carry out this advertisement project. I hope this will be received either this week or next.

I might further add that Mr. W. P. Mooney of Miami, member of the department representing the district in the road board, has stated that he expects to use his division's allocation of federal money to carry out this project.

It will amount to a little over $300,000 which is in addition to the money already allocated to the project. Let me be sure that you are thoroughly just what you are doing to your job; determine that which is good and that which is bad on the part of both of you; and let us know what you think of the whole situation and attitude toward each other and attitude toward the project.

Recognize the good and the bad and set about to correct it. There should be no condemnation of either party but rather, let it be a long look ahead, not a million miles behind. Let us be sure that we are facing a new challenge to larger living—and can we do it?

Discuss methods and plans. Separate each other's methods privately and constructively; go into executive session often and see what you can do to help each other.

After hearing, hear; after seeing, see; after doing, do. Let us have a good audience. There is a lot of work to be done.

BETTER TIMES
Many are awaiting impatiently for the return of prosperity as we have known it the past twenty-five years. Better times mean of course that the prosperity of the next cycle will be built on a past cycle. During the past fifty years the contributing factors have been a great era of railroad building with its consequent development of a large foreign market for steel and iron, the demand, a large immigration, the opening of new territory for settlement, the expansion of the oil industry and other industries, the coming of the automobile and the internal combustion engine and the war.

There is no more territory to throw open to settlement, immigration has been reduced to a limited quota, the oil industry has reached a point of saturation, already have. A complete cross country system of highways might be built on a much larger scale than is now being attempted. Trucks may be equipped with diesel engines that will pull a load of freight across a state for a few cents. Air planes may carry perishable vegetables, fruits and meats to market centers in a few hours, and by rising to the cold air, make the trip without icing the cargo. There is television yet to come. Electricity is still in its infancy and the next twenty-five years may see it used to heat homes at less cost than the most economical present day method. It will be remembered in this connection that a single invention or scientific discovery may open up countless new opportunities and form the basis of a great industry as did the invention of the automobile. A new discovery may completely change the world in which we live. It may bring new opportunities and a new scheme of living.
